Professional identity

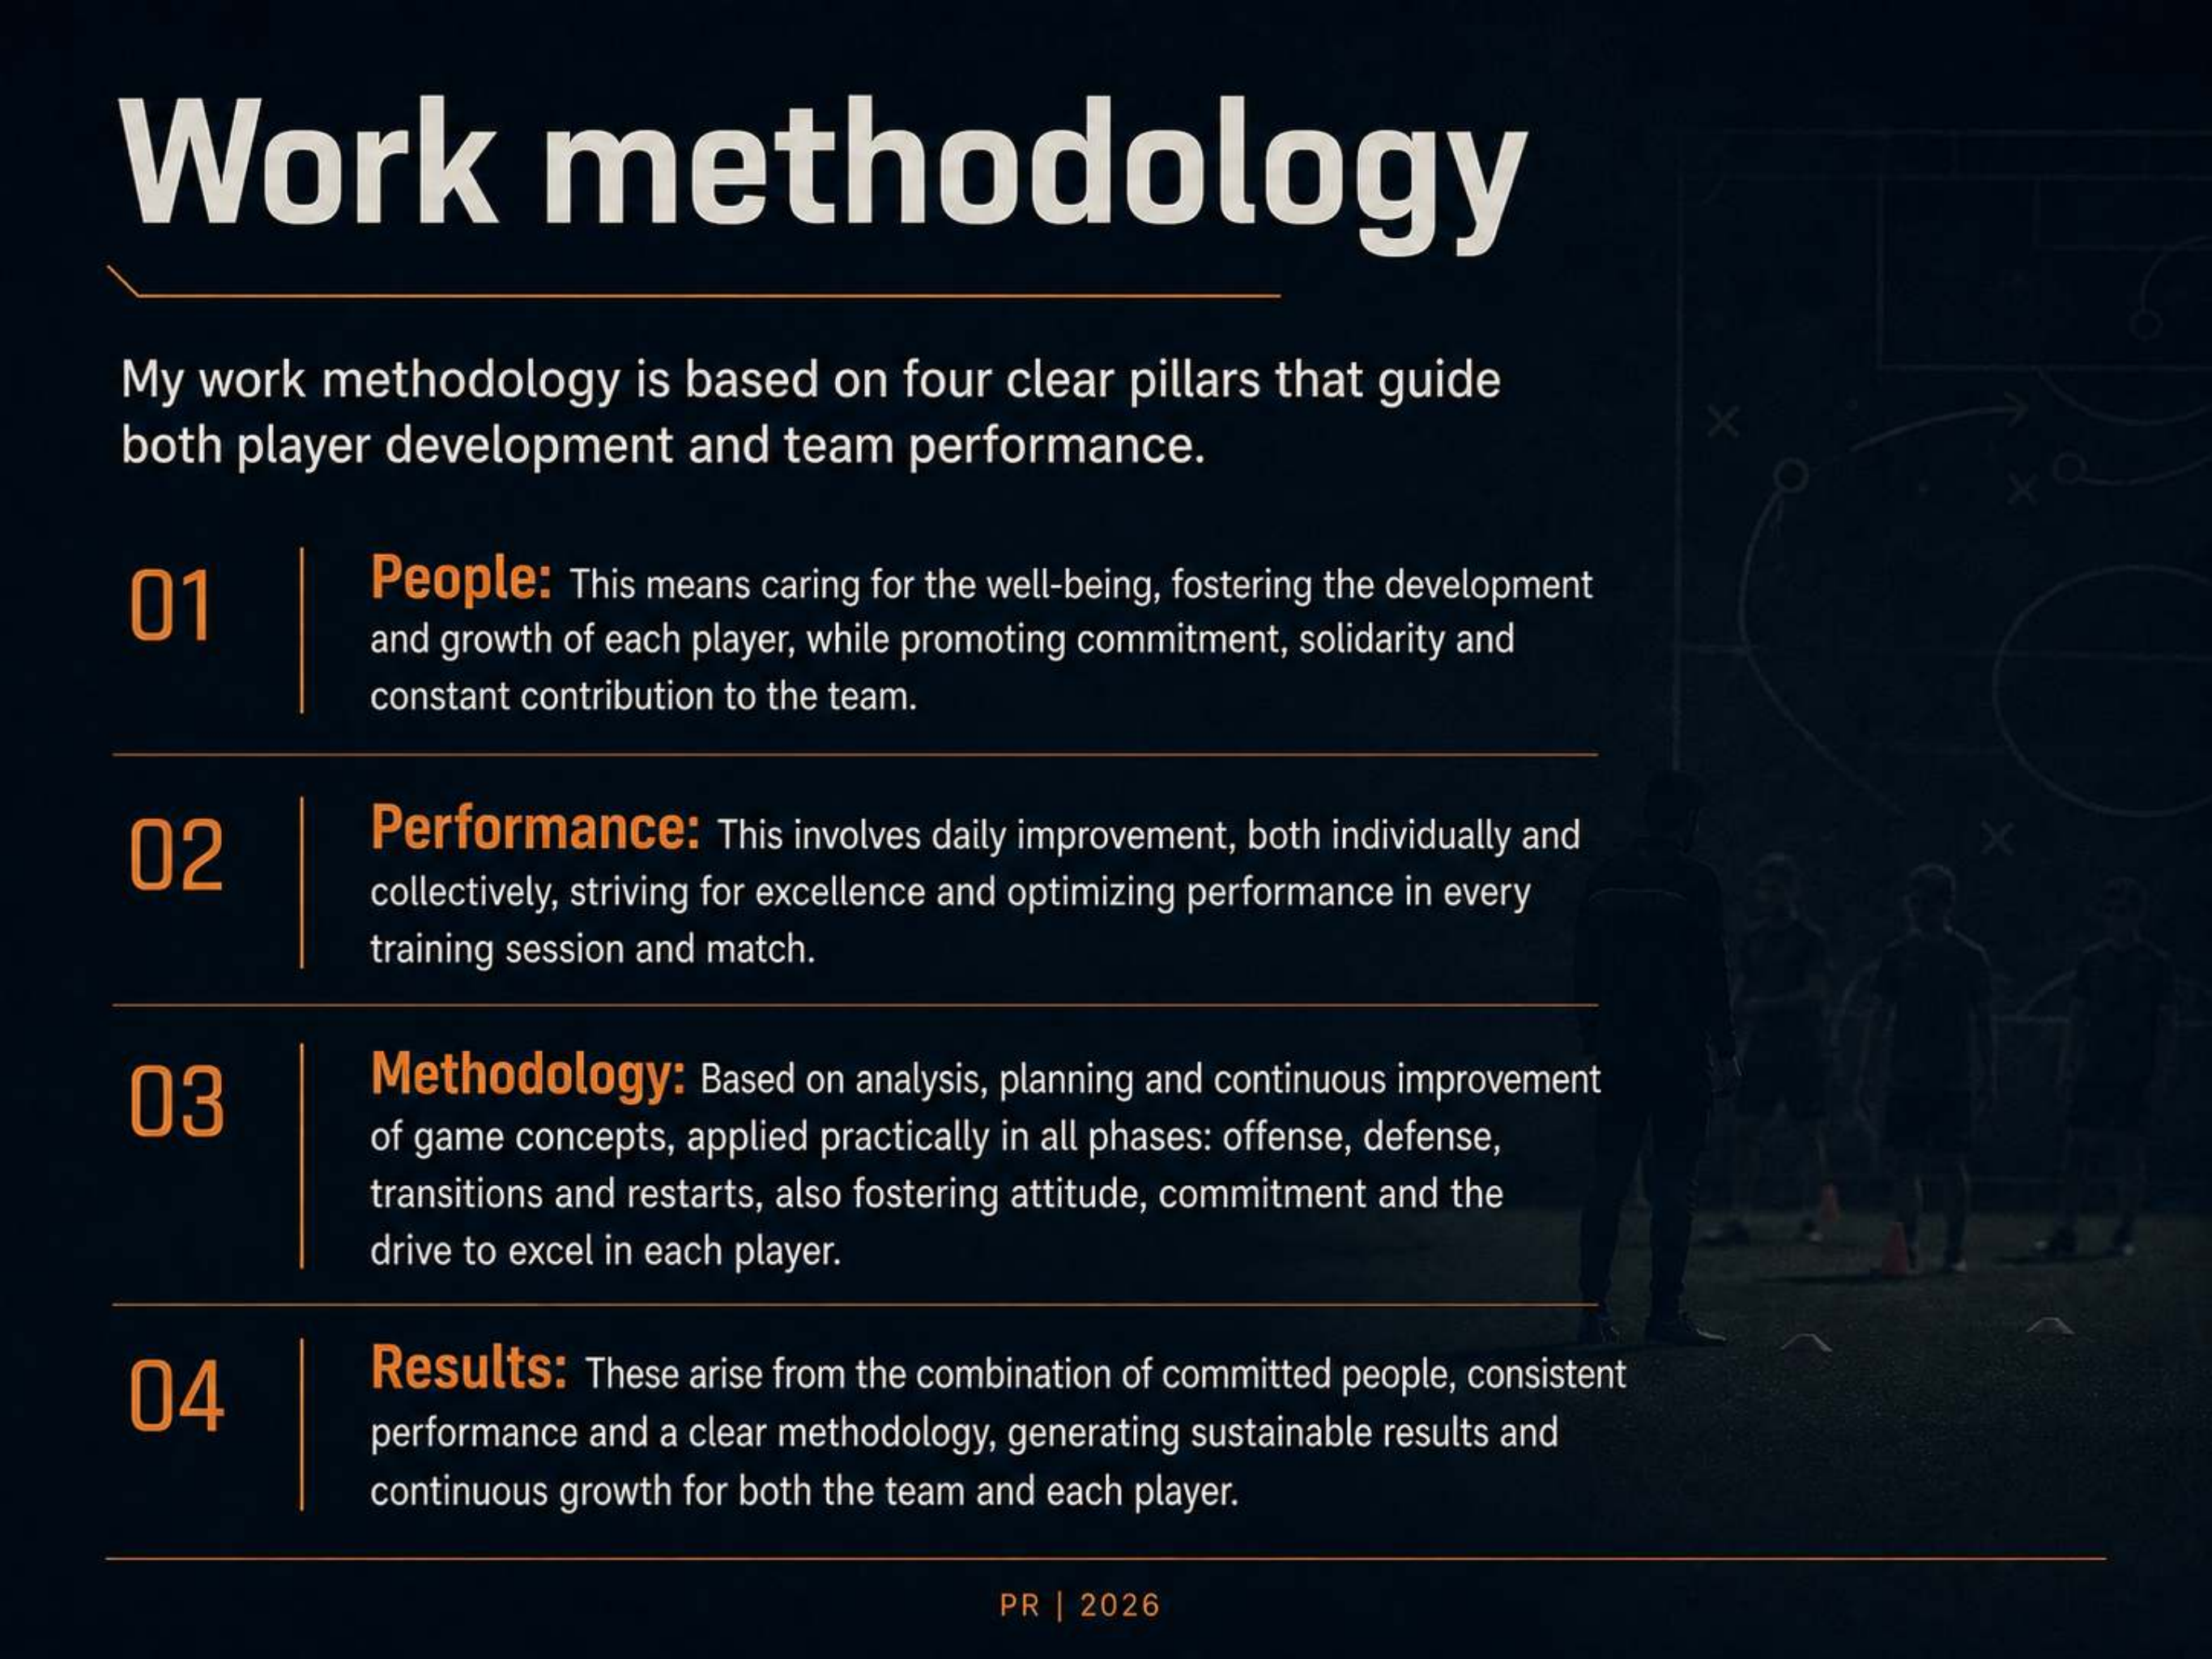

I am a football professional with experience both on the field and as part of coaching staffs in diverse contexts and cultures. I am guided by non-negotiable values: respect, humility, commitment, effort and solidarity.

My approach integrates player development with the enhancement of collective performance. I work through a clear methodology: deep analysis, dynamic training sessions and game-realistic situations that strengthen decision-making and execution.

What sets me apart is my conceptual clarity, tactical and strategic knowledge and the ability to communicate ideas in a simple, direct and action-oriented manner. My goal is to empower each player –and the team as a whole– to grow, express their talent and face every challenge with responsibility, passion and commitment.

Work methodology

The background of the slide features a dark, blurred image of a soccer field. Overlaid on this is a white tactical diagram, likely a soccer pitch, with various symbols (circles, crosses, arrows) indicating player positions and movement patterns. In the lower right portion of the background, several figures are visible, appearing to be a coach and players on the field.

My work methodology is based on four clear pillars that guide both player development and team performance.

01

People: This means caring for the well-being, fostering the development and growth of each player, while promoting commitment, solidarity and constant contribution to the team.

02

Performance: This involves daily improvement, both individually and collectively, striving for excellence and optimizing performance in every training session and match.

03

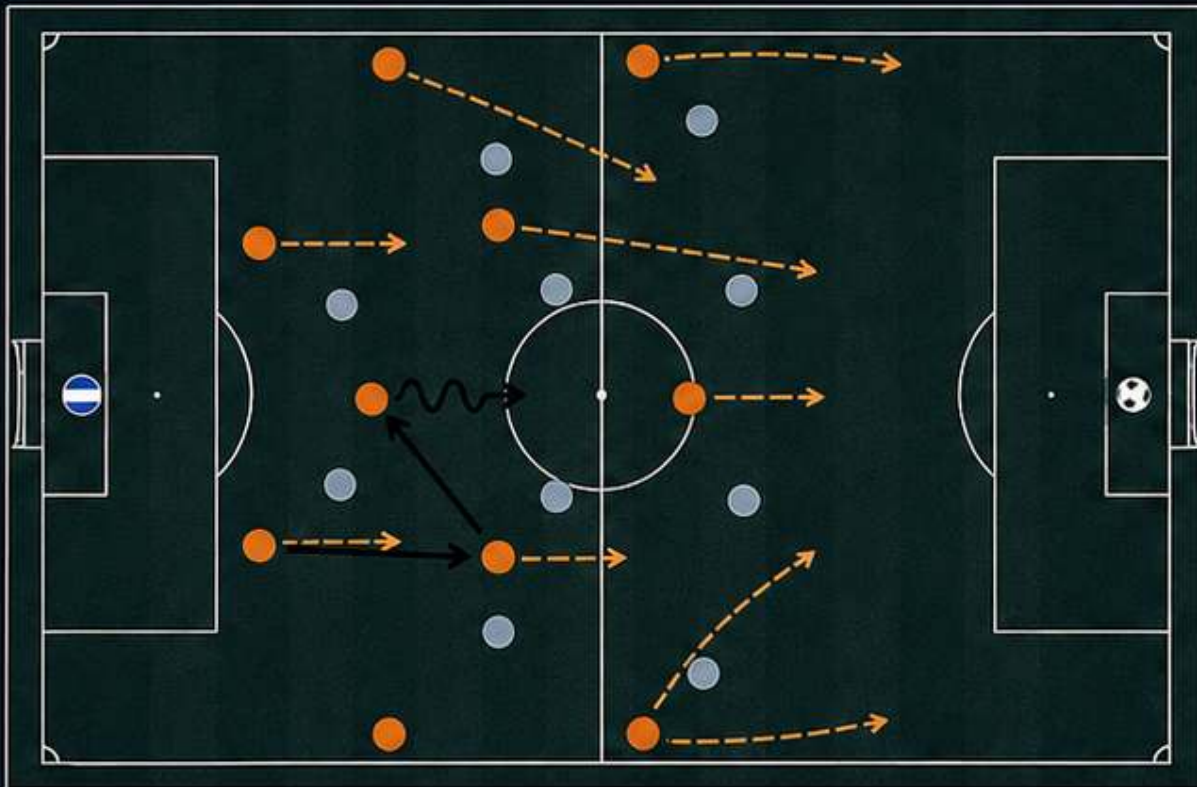

Methodology: Based on analysis, planning and continuous improvement of game concepts, applied practically in all phases: offense, defense, transitions and restarts, also fostering attitude, commitment and the drive to excel in each player.

04

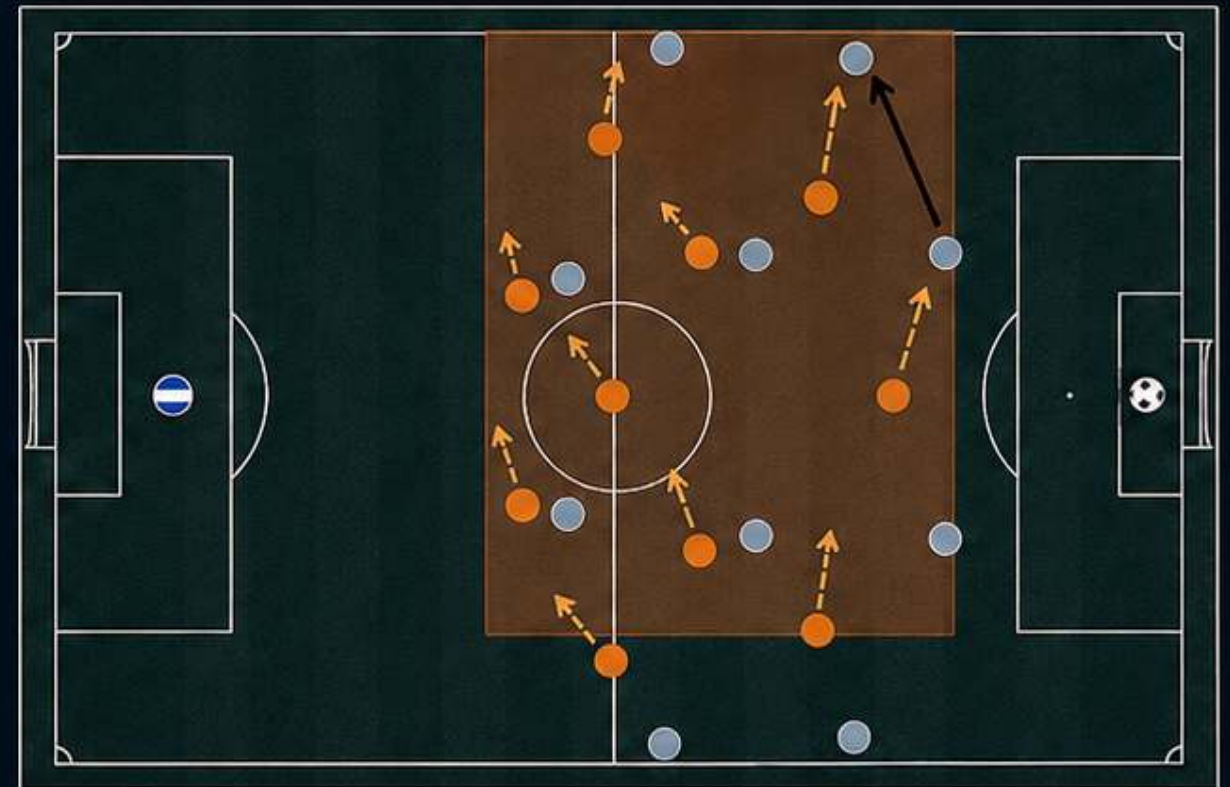

Results: These arise from the combination of committed people, consistent performance and a clear methodology, generating sustainable results and continuous growth for both the team and each player.

Play style

Build from the team play, press intensely and be protagonists.

- Create numerical advantages through build-up play.
- Offer support with good angles and passing lanes.
- Progress as a unit, maintaining connection between lines.
- Create through-the-ball passing options.
- Be well-positioned upon losing possession.

- Press with organization and aggression.
- Choose the opportune moment and coordinate efforts to press.
- Active participation of the entire team in the recovery phase.
- Retreat quickly and in an orderly fashion if the pressure is unsuccessful.

Commitment and development

Our responsibility is to inspire footballers to improve, foster their development, and build a team that reflects our vision of football and the passion of our fans.

To achieve this, we are committed to cultivating a team culture based on clear values, objectives, and roles; leading with firmness and approachability, putting people first; maintaining open communication with players, management, and staff; creating dynamic training sessions that enhance technique, tactics, fitness, and decision-making; and contributing all our effort and expertise to build a team dedicated to its development and performance.
